AMERICANS SEIZE SALERNO, WIDEN NAPLES WEDGE

Corrosion Of Metal
In Hitler's Axis Is Going Forward Fast

Interpretation By
Kirke L. Simpson
(Wide World War Analyst)

EDITOR'S NOTE: During Kirke L. Simpson's vacation, this column is being written by various members of the Washington staff of the Associated Press.

By John H. Wiggins
Despite Adolf Hitler's declaration that "the ring of steel forged by the German home front will never break," the fuhrer must know with certainty now that the events of the last few days have hastened immeasurably the complete corrosion of Axis metal.

Within the week, Allied forces have knocked out one of his partners, taken over a major portion of Italy's fleet and presently are menacing his bombarded European fortress from the Italian peninsula, Russia and across the channel in Britain.

To the south, British and American forces are swarming up Italy's mainland. To the north, triumphant Russian armies finished cleaning the rich Donets basin of Nazi troops and are sweeping on after fleeing German divisions to threaten the whole German defense line east of the Dnieper river.

In the south Pacific, Americans and Australians virtually assured the fall of the Japanese air base of Lae, New Guinea, which the now wavering Nipponese have held since January, 1942.

And in western and central Europe, Allied planes continued throughout most of the week their furious bombing to impair Nazi war production further, ruin military targets and bring near the hour when Hitler's inner fortress is invaded.

This week just starting perhaps will show up Herr Hitler's evaluation of Italy's surrender as being only of slight importance.

As British forces climb the southern part of the peninsula to contact German troops, a major battle is shaping up near Naples where the American fifth army is progressively strengthening its grip.

The fall of Italy brought the major portion of the Italian war fleet into Allied hands—an event that undoubtedly will have repercussions on both Hitler and Tokyo.

Escape of most of the Italian ships from Nazi-dominated ports and their safe arrival in Malta greatly enhances the probability of additional Allied naval strength being diverted to the south Pacific war theater.

Russian forces, meanwhile, have occasion for plenty of optimism because German military strength appears to be severely strained.

Biggest Italian Ships In Allied Hands

35,000-TON ROMA SUNK BY GERMANS

Sent To Bottom During Spectacular Running Battle With Nazis

By Noland Norgaard
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 11.—(P)—The backbone of the Italian fleet—four battleships, seven cruisers and six destroyers—sailed into Allied hands at Malta today after a spectacular running battle with the German air force which sent one battleship to the bottom.

The battleship which went down under the German attack was the 35,000-ton Roma, one of Italy's newest ships, and those arriving safely at Malta were the battleships Italia, formerly the Littorio, the Vittorio Veneto, both 35,000 tons, the Andrea Doria and the Carlo Duilio, both 24,000 tons.

The cruisers included the Luigi Di Savoia Duca degli Abruzzi, the Giuseppe Garibaldi, the Eugenio di Savoia, the Emanuele Filiberto Duca d'Aosta, the Raimondo Montecuccoli and the Luigi Cadorna, all 8,000 tons. (The seventh cruiser was not immediately identified.)

Seven additional Italian warships also making a bold dash to escape German control arrived in the Balearic islands of non-belligerent Spain, Spanish dispatches said.

Additional Italian fleet units were expected to reach Malta shortly, marking a major bloodless victory for the Allies as land forces raced with Germany to partition the remaining Italian empire.

JIMMIE DAVIS IN GOVERNOR'S RACE

Asserts He Has Not Been Affected With Political Factions

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 11.—(P)—J. H. "Jimmie" Davis of Shreveport, today announced his entry into the Louisiana gubernatorial race.

Davis, a member of the state public service commission from the third commission district, formerly was Shreveport public safety commissioner and a clerk in the Shreveport city court.

He is a native of Jackson county and a graduate of Louisiana college at Pineville and Louisiana State university. He has received wide recognition as a writer of popular songs, his "You Are My Sunshine" having recently been praised by British Prime Minister Churchill as a builder of morale among United Nations troops in England.

In announcing his candidacy, Mr. Davis said:

"I am of the firm opinion that the most important factor in Louisiana to be attained during the next four years is unity and harmony among all groups and factions in this state. I believe most of us agree that in order to properly cope with the tremendous problems of our post-war state, a united front is absolutely essential.

22 FROM ALEXANDRIA AIR BASE KILLED IN COLLISION

JAP TROOPS IN PANICKY FLIGHT

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sunday, Sept. 12.—(P)—American and Australian jungle fighters, covered by a heavy artillery barrage, drove the Japanese from ridge positions along the coast below Salamaua, New Guinea, into panicky flight Saturday, bringing close the fateful hour for an enemy army trapped there and at Lae.

The Salamaua Japanese, who broke so abruptly from defenses southeast of the Francisco river that they left behind artillery and hundreds of dead, can retreat north along a trail to Lae. But Lae's peril appears even greater with Australians throwing back Japanese counterattacks at a newly won river bridgehead only two miles from an airbase on its northeastern outskirts and another Allied force surging down the Markham valley from the northwest.

The breaking of the Japanese lines below Salamaua apparently augurs early capture of the large airbase which is between the Francisco river and the town, built on an outer isthmus in the Huon gulf.

The Allies are bidding for two other airbases at Lae. Near the Malahang airbase, Australians who crossed the rain-swollen Bunu river for the first time came under the fire of medium Japanese artillery Saturday. The Australians have the support of 25-pounders wheeled into action with great difficulty over jungle and swamp.

Advanced guards of the Australians inflicted losses on the enemy which tried to dislodge the bridgehead yesterday.

A few soldiers of the encircled Lae-Salamaua army, which some estimates have placed as high as 20,000, may be able to run the Allied sea and air gauntlet by sneaking from Lae in barges. But the greater portion appears doomed.

The other force moving on Lae from the Markham valley is growing by the hour as motor men and equipment are flown in by big air transports.

Allied losses around Salamaua, in yesterday's line-smashing attack and throughout previous operations have been only a fraction of those inflicted on the Japanese, headquarters said.

$390,205 IN WAR BONDS SOLD HERE

Total sales of War bonds for Ouachita parish in the Third War loan were $390,205 yesterday, but this figure is far short of the quota of $4,315,000 and the sale of bonds must be accelerated materially if the parish goal is to be reached by the end of the month, according to S. J. Rogers, chairman of the parish War Finance committee.

GERMANS BOAST OF UPPER ITALY

Say Position Also Consolidated In Balkans, Southern France

ASSERT 200,000 MEN IN ITALY'S ARMY DISARMED

LONDON, Sept. 11.—(P)—The Germans claimed today to have consolidated their position in upper Italy, the Balkans and southern France, and they asserted that more than 200,000 men of the Italian army already had surrendered their arms to Nazi troops.

In official and special communiqués detailed from Hitler's headquarters and subsequent broadcasts from the Berlin radio, the Germans admitted that they encountered resistance at some points from their erstwhile Italian allies but declared that Nazi troops are proceeding "in an energetic manner" to put down this opposition where it still is being offered.

The German Transocean news agency claimed "the major part of the Italian peninsula" was under German control.

The Berlin broadcast fixing the number of Italians the Germans said they disarmed said the figure of 200,000 "does not, however, include garrisons at Rome and Milan, which, as previously reported, also capitulated."

In the face of the surrender of the bulk of the Italian fleet to the Allies and their own admission of resistance from some Italian army units, the Germans shrilly declared that since Italy's unconditional surrender there has been a daily increase in the number of Italian units which have "declared their readiness to continue the struggle within the ranks of the German armed forces."

The Germans reported that King Vittorio Emanuele, Premier Pietro Badoglio and Crown Prince Umberto had fled from captured Rome into Allied-held Sicily. The broadcast was worded in a way, however, to indicate the Germans were not positive where the three men were. It credited the report that the crown prince was in Sicily to Allied sources.

Dispatches from Allied headquarters, however, said that the Italian king still was in Rome and still was reigning.

Italy's king and queen fled from Rome Sunday.

Terms Of Italian Surrender Listed

Transfer Of Naval And Air Units To Allies And Release Of All United Nations Prisoners Is Agreed To

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 11.—(P)—Italy has agreed to surrender immediately French Corsica, transfer its naval and air units to Allied territory, hand over all United Nations' prisoners, and allow its merchantmen to be used in the war against Germany under the terms of the armistice, disclosed here tonight.

The armistice, signed by representatives of General Dwight D. Eisenhower and Marshal Pietro Badoglio on September 3 and announced September 8, provides:

1. Immediate cessation of all hostile activity by Italian armed forces.
2. Italy will use its best endeavors to deny to the Germans facilities that might be used against the United Nations.
3. All prisoners or internees of the United Nations immediately to be turned over to the Allied commander in chief and none of these may now or at any time be evacuated to Germany.
4. Immediate transfer of the Italian fleet and Italian aircraft to such points as may be designated by the Allied commander in chief, with details of disarmament to be prescribed by him.
5. Italian merchant shipping may be requisitioned by the Allied commander in chief to meet the need of a military-naval program.
6. Immediate surrender of Corsica and all Italian territory, both islands and the mainland, to the Allies, for such use as operational bases and other purposes as the Allies may see fit.
7. Immediate guarantee of free use by the Allies of all air fields and naval ports in Italian territory, regardless of the rate of evacuation of Italian territory by the German armed forces. These ports and fields are to be protected by Italian armed forces until this function is taken over by the Allies.
8. Immediate withdrawal to Italy of Italian armed forces from all participation in the current war from whatever area wherein they may now be engaged.
9. A guarantee by the Italian government that if necessary it will employ all available armed forces to insure the prompt and exact compliance with all provisions of this armistice.
10. The commander in chief of the Allied forces reserves to himself the right to take any gesture which in his opinion may be necessary for

CHARGES DRAFT DISCRIMINATION

McKenzie Asserts Many Single Negroes Still Not Taken

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 11.—(Special)—Representative Charles E. McKenzie said today he is taking steps to end discrimination by selective service in the drafting of white men and negroes in Louisiana and other southern states.

He is going directly to selective service headquarters in his endeavor and as soon as congress convenes will go to the floor of the house with it. In the meantime, he is meeting with other southern members to get backing for it and, if necessary, will introduce and back legislation to force an end to discrimination.

McKenzie pointed out that the draft law specifically declares that there shall be no discrimination in the drafting of men for military service on account of race, creed or color. However, the way it is working out in the south is that a disproportionate share of white men are being taken, he asserted.

He cited the example of one draft board in his district which had a call this month for a specified number of white men and a specified, smaller number of negroes. The board informed him that if this quota was met, nine pre-World War I fathers would have to be drafted, but at the same time a large number of single negroes would be left, untouched. He was further told that this board has enough single negroes, all processed, to fill all quotas for the rest of the year, but that if quotas are not changed, white fathers will have to be drafted instead.

McKenzie declared that this discrimination against white men, despite the clearly stated intent in the law, he is taking steps in an effort to have selective service and this, and if that does not work, is ready to go directly to the floor of the house and demand legislation to force it to abide by that language.

GASOLINE RATINGS WILL BE REVIEWED

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 11.—(P)—Moving to reduce civilian gasoline consumption 25 per cent, the regional OPA office is reviewing supplemental rationing issued by war price and rationing boards in the six states of region five. Regional Administrator Max McCullough disclosed today.

FEEDING ITALY WON'T BE HARD

Nation Normally Almost Self-Sufficient In Food Production

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(P)—The men who will guide American relief in Italy think it may be put back on its feet easier than any other European country, provided the Germans are kept from making it a battleground like Poland or France.

That is how experts of the office of foreign relief and rehabilitation operations view the prospects as they plan ahead for the job to be done when General Dwight D. Eisenhower gives them the nod to move in.

The immediate relief task in Italy, it should be explained, is an army job. As the AMG (Allied military government) goes into new territory on the heels of advancing troops, army officers trained in administration take over the machinery of community life and supervise emergency relief measures.

Such measures, however, are not highly developed. They serve the immediate military purpose somewhere near normal life.

When the relief agency comes in—several weeks or months hence—it will pick up from there. It has not yet been over the machinery of community life and supervise emergency relief measures.

In the light of information as far as available, the men under Foreign Relief Director Herbert H. Lehman do not foresee a tremendous need for food shipments to stave off starvation. As a partner in the Axis, Italy shared with Germany the preferred position of a belligerent in the distribution of whatever food was available in Axis-dominated Europe.

Italy, too, is normally almost self-sufficient in its food production. Meat was becoming scarce, but Italians were reported to be getting a fairly adequate diet shortly before the capitulation.

The problem of "feeding Italy," therefore, may turn out to be largely a problem of helping the Italians distribute effectively Italy's own available food supplies.

ITALIAN TROOPS FIGHTING NAZIS

United States Forces Make New Landing On Sorrento Peninsula

SMASHING AERIAL FLEETS AND SHIP'S GUNS ASSIST

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—(P)—Marshal Pietro Badoglio and King Vittorio Emanuele tonight urged the Italian people to abide by the terms of the armistice and to defend the nation against German attacks.

By Edward Kennedy
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 11.—(P)—American Fifth army forces, hurling back German armored units to expand their holdings around Naples in the heightening battle of Italy, have captured the port of Salerno, Allied headquarters announced today as chaos gripped the peninsula and Italian troops were reported fighting the Nazis in the north.

Lieutenant General Mark W. Clark's American and British assault troops drove steadily inland to widen the Naples wedge, and headquarters declared that the bridgehead was firmly established, with "steady progress" having been made ever since the start of the campaign.

Crack German armored units unleashed several more fierce counterattacks against General Clark's troops at Salerno, but were beaten back by the Allies, who pushed inland here with the assistance of smashing aerial fleets and of big guns of naval vessels lying offshore.

(A Berlin broadcast recorded in London said American troops had made a new landing on the Sorrento peninsula, south of Naples, which separates Salerno Bay from the bay of Naples.)

(Another German broadcast admitted the capture of Salerno by the Americans and said their landing was made north of Paestum, which is 25 miles below Salerno. The Germans said some ground had been regained in fierce counterattacks.)

Headquarters said several pockets of enemy resistance had been wiped out around Salerno, and that the prisoners taken, all of them Germans, now total several hundred.

American Fifth army units were said officially to have borne the brunt of German resistance during the Salerno landings. British units, which landed with little opposition some distance away, were attacked later by

RUSSIANS MAKE SMASHING GAINS

Germans May Not Attempt To Hold All Points On Dnieper

LONDON, Sunday, Sept. 12.—(P)—The Red army pursuing German troops "retreating in disorder" in southern Russia overran nearly 200 villages yesterday and cut down 4,000 of the enemy in smashing gains that threatened to trap hundreds of thousands of Axis troops, including those in the Caucasus and Crimea, a Moscow communique disclosed early today.

The bulletin announced a 71-2 mile plavage toward Pavlograd, important junction on the Kharkov-Crimea railway, in the race for the Dnieper river, and said Soviet forces attacking on a 600-mile front were inflicting "decisive blows" on the enemy.

BALANCE TURNS AGAINST NAZIS

Hitler's Boasted Capture Of Rome Proves Hollow Victory

LONDON, Sept. 11.—(P)—The balance of the war in the Mediterranean was turning sharply against the Germans tonight at the end of a week of Allied victories just as it already had turned against them in the far, bleak reaches of Russia.

Adolf Hitler's most desperate improvisations—such as the attacks on Rome and his claim to have forced the capitulation of almost the whole of Italy's land force at home and in the Balkans and France—had failed to put a better face on these days of his disaster.

One—Italy's greatest single weapon, her fleet, was beyond the possibility of doubt in Allied hands. The bulk of her four battleships and seven cruisers—have arrived safely in British Malta.

Two—Italian troops still are fighting a shooting war with the Nazis in various parts of Italy notwithstanding all Hitler's stories of Italian surrender. The German command had to admit this fact in a communique saying "wherever resistance still is offered locally our troops are taking vigorous

GERMANS BOAST

Rome Wednesday by motor car, said a Berlin broadcast of a dispatch by the German news agency Transocean. The broadcast added that their flight came "shortly after the king had assured the German charge d'affaires of Italy's loyalty towards her German ally."

Without further explanation the broadcast declared that "it is as yet uncertain" whether the king, queen and crown prince "were able to save their lives."

Fascists in Italy, the broadcast asserted, "are in opposition not only to the king but also to the crown prince owing to the attitude adopted by the royal house towards Mussolini and the Fascist party."

Declaring that Fascist sympathies now are centered on the Duke of Spoleto, a cousin of King Vittorio Emanuele, the broadcast said that the Duke of Spoleto's designation as puppet king of Croatia was cancelled Thursday.

The special German communique credited forces under command of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel with having consolidated the German positions in upper Italy "after a short struggle."

The Nazis said that they took undestroyed railway lines and roads leading from Carinthia and Tyrol to upper Italy, occupied the Ligurian coast from Genoa to La Spezia, cleared the Etch valley and towns in the area of Bologna, Verona and Cremona and took Trieste after a short struggle. They claimed to have disarmed more than 90,000 Italians in the latter city alone.

Nazi troops also stormed into Milan, Turin and Padua, northern Italian industrial cities, a Berlin broadcast said, but added that at Milan and Turin the German divisions had been forced to fight "rioting by Communists."

The United Nations radio at Algiers declared that reports from all over Italy told of civilian resistance against the Germans.

Before the Germans captured Turin, the Algiers broadcast said, four companies of German shock troops were wiped out inside the city and civilians were said to have destroyed seven German planes. The radio reported in Italian that Italian troops continue to fight in the Turin district.

Referring to the situation in southern France, the German special communique said the Italian Fourth army had surrendered its weapons without incident to Field Marshal Gerd von Rundstedt. The Germans occupied the coast from Toulon to Menton, they said.

In the Balkans, the communique said, most of the Italian units in Athens and in the Albanian city of Tirana had put down their arms. It declared further that "Italian warships and merchantmen in the Aegean have been taken over by the German navy" and that German units had occupied former Italian air fields and the most important harbors on the Adriatic coast.

Consolidating their positions in the face of the southern invasion of the Allies, German troops were reported in a communique to have captured Yugoslav side of the Adriatic and the Italian naval base of Pola on the island of Rhodes in the Dodecanese group.

Italy forced German military leaders to rush reinforcements not only to the peninsula but into the neighboring Balkans to be ready for an Allied invasion there and to forestall eruption in the satellite states.

Continuing an amazing sweep along a 400-mile front, the Red troops threatened to slam shut the only door of escape for German's Crimean garrisons. The broad Russian action from the Azov sea to the northern end of the Ukraine is turning the German retreat into something resembling a rout in many sectors.

Perhaps Hitler also may regard the Russian front as of slight importance—he failed to mention it in his "victory" broadcast to the German people.

feel that I can, to a great extent, reconcile the views and co-ordinate the efforts of all political groups to the end that we may better meet the grave problems which are not far from our threshold.

"I shall do all in my power to bury the hates and distrusts of the past and raise the curtain that will let in the sunshine of Louisiana's future greatness. In short, I believe in the following:

"That we should retain all constructive legislation of all past administrations, including an adequate system of old age pensions and social welfare; free school books; the civil service system, which will forever eliminate political slavery of persons who are employed by our state; home-stead exemptions; adequate funds for the construction and maintenance of hard surfaced farm-to-market roads; hospital privileges and proper accounting in state financing.

"In addition, I advocate an extensive program looking toward the rehabilitation of our returning members of the armed forces and rural trade schools to promote the agricultural development of our state.

"I do not believe our citizens desire that any candidate make promises impossible of fulfillment and I do not intend to make any such promises. On the contrary, I do intend to advocate and support a sound, sensible and business-like program for the development of what was once the richest state in the union and which can be made so again. As a part of this program, I shall oppose, with all the force at my command, the exploitation of our natural gas reserves and other natural resources which are known to be limited.

"In the final analysis, the opportunities of our state in the fields of industry, agriculture, transportation and commerce constitute the final solution of our problems. These are the manna and material which God Almighty gave us and intended we should use to open up new vistas and new hopes to the truly forgotten men and women of Louisiana. Our people are not particularly concerned about the past; they are looking to the future. At the same time, they applaud the efforts of those who have bettered the lot of the average citizen, no matter from what political faction he springs. They like the progress that has come from better schools, better roads, better hospitals, bigger industries, greater opportunities, clean government and better paid school teachers, no matter what the name of the governor when these things occurred."

SOME RAISINS UNRATED
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 11.—(P)—Raisins packaged in small, machine-made cardboard cartons of less than two ounces are not rationed, the Office of Price Administration announced today. These items are ordinarily marketed and used as confections rather than as processed fruits.

CARAWAY FAVORS DRAFTING FATHERS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(P)—A senator first—a mother second—Mrs. Hattie Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, spoke out today against efforts of some congress members to restrict or prohibit drafting of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers.

"I think if the army and navy needs fathers, there's nothing to do but take them," said the only woman member of the United States senate. She has two sons in the armed forces and contended that her constituents in Arkansas feel about the father draft as she does.

"I've talked a good deal about it with the people down home and they all seem to feel that congress shouldn't interfere," Mrs. Caraway added. "I can't see how congress can permit sending 18 and 19-year-olds into the services and not allow fathers to go."

Mrs. Caraway told an interviewer she anticipates considerable debate on the question of sending fathers to the battlefronts. As for her, she has faith in the judgment of army and navy officials about the required size of the armed forces, now estimated at around 10,000,000, and said she would not question their views.

Her sons are lieutenant colonels in the infantry, Paul Caraway being stationed here and Forrest at Camp Pickett, Va.

Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, has a bill pending to postpone the drafting of fathers until January 1 and Chairman May, Democrat, Kentucky, of the house military affairs committee said that when congress reconvenes Tuesday he will introduce legislation to bar such inductions entirely.

Hitler Next?

With Italy out of the war and the Russians making new gains—whether as a result of victorious fighting or Nazi retreat is unimportant—daily, there is a new wave of optimism in allied lands that the war in Europe will end in a matter of weeks or days.

The course of prudence is to regard such optimism as unjustified and undesirable. Whether Hitler is indeed wobbling, or whether he has already been defeated but can be deposed only by another year's hard fighting only events can reveal. But national safety dictates acceptance of the latter.

Events are transpiring more rapidly than was the case in late summer of 1918, and the allies then did not make the mistake of taking it for granted that the Hun was licked. When the armistice was signed on November 11 of that year, the allies were at the peak of their military power and were making plans for several more years of war.

If the allies can use air bases in Italy for the bombing of Germany on an unprecedented scale, the end may be brought nearer by months. If the Russians can continue to extend their gains at the present pace, Hitler's "fortress of Europe" will rapidly degenerate into a badly battered fortress of Germany.

Whether this is the time to move in for the kill the allied military leaders are in position to judge. If Germany has not been sufficiently softened up, wise military strategy will dictate a continuance of the air raids rather than new land invasions.

Italy never had much more than a nuisance value in this war, at least militarily. But by using Italy as a jumping-off place, Hitler was able to extend his lines into Egypt and to control the Mediterranean. But if, in turning Italy over to Hitler, Mussolini prolonged the war, in a sense, perhaps this very act as much as any one development reacted against the Nazis. It was possession of Italian ports that enabled Hitler to send Rommel and several hundred thousand of the best Nazi troops into Africa, to be killed or captured by the allies.

If the defeat of Italy was achieved more easily than most allied leaders had anticipated, this, too, is evidence of Nazi weakness. Hitler was aware of the implications of allied control of Italy to the course of the war. He did not make a greater effort to defend Italy because he could not do so.

Hitler's once vaunted luftwaffe has been cut down to a fleet of fighter planes massed for the most part about Berlin, his U-boats have been sunk and defeated, his land armies are unable to win a battle anywhere. All these developments are the basis of allied optimism, but it should be held in restraint until allied armies have moved into Berlin.

That will be the signal for a celebration that will not be premature.

NOTABLE VICTORY

The Premier Smuts or pro-war party in South Africa has won a smashing victory, which all Americans join Secretary of State Cordell Hull in hailing. The South Africans, none too enthusiastic about going to war at first, demonstrated two to one that they are eager now to go down the line against totalitarianism.

This should be of interest to Herr Hitler and to his stooge Joe Goebbels, who tried to intervene in the South African election on behalf of the anti-war party. Their interference resulted in bringing out an unusually heavy vote, which changed the United party's plurality of 72 to a majority of 89, eliminated the anti-war Afriander party and blotted out the anti-war New Order group.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
(Monroe Morning World Washington Correspondent)

"Now it can be told" incidents on European phases of the war and its strategic planning are revealed in profusion in General George C. Marshall's report as chief of staff, just released.

After the British disaster at Dunkirk in 1940, the British Isles were left practically defenseless, and the British field army equipment had been lost. In this situation, American stocks of arms and munitions and explosives remaining from the first World War were immediately released to the British, leaving this country with only enough equipment for an army of 18 million men. For the United States, General Marshall reveals, the military issue immediately at stake was the security of the British fleet to dominate the Atlantic.

Deficiencies of arms for United States defenses of the western hemisphere, the Panama Canal and Alaska were then so great that reinforcements for the Philippines would have left the continental United States in great peril and this situation remained till mid-1941.

Vitality important to the United States at this time was the defense of Brazil, which offered the nearest point of approach to this continent from the east. United States troops were sent to Brazil and air bases in Belem, Natal, Recife. The strategy then laid out had to take into consideration the possibility that a great tragedy might befall the United Kingdom, with a constant threat of German occupation of Dakar and Morocco.

African Campaign Delayed

As these possibilities were wiped from the slate, defense requirements in the Caribbean were altered, so that today there is no justification for maintaining large air and ground installations in the Caribbean from Trinidad to Cuba, or even in the Panama Canal Zone.

The North African invasion, planned to remove German threats against Morocco and Dakar, as well as to open the Mediterranean to shorten supply lines to the Middle East and the Far East, actually had to be delayed twice for months because of a lack of equipment.

Combined American-British-Canadian operations against North Africa were first discussed in detail while Prime Minister Churchill and the British chiefs of staff were in Washington in January, 1942. They were again considered when Churchill came to Washington in June, at which time invasion was planned for early fall. But again the invasion had to be delayed until November in order to receive landing craft from the shipyards and train crews in their operation.

Success of the North African campaign hung on the greatest of hazards. The air forces, save for carrier-borne aircraft and a few bombers and transports, had to be funneled through a single restricted airfield at Gibraltar. This field, General Marshall reveals, could have been put out of action in an hour, had the Germans known of the plan.

The North African invasion was assigned to three task forces, each with naval escort. One sailed directly to the United States for landings at Morocco. A second force of United States troops sailed from Britain with British navy escort for Oran. The third combined American-British force sailed from Britain for Algiers.

Nazi Advantage In Tunisia

All task forces were under orders not to fire until fired upon. French forces had been instructed to display certain signals to indicate their non-resistance. But a code signal was to be flashed to all invading troops at the first hostile act on the part of the French in any sector. The signal was, "Play Ball!"

American reverses at Kasserine Pass in late February are explained in General Eisenhower's own words: "Our present tactical difficulties resulted from my attempt to do possibly too much."

The rains finally ended, the roads were improved, the railroad revitalized and 10 pipeline laid, permitting movement into Tunisia of more American troops for the final victory on May 9.

PRAYERS AND BONDS!

Today is the first Sunday of the Third War Loan campaign. You'll offer a prayer for the safety of your boy at the front. The front may mean Germany or New Guinea. Your boy will do the same on the battlefield.

Funny, how he worries about you. You'd think the shoe was on the other foot. Perhaps it is, but there is one sure way for him to find out. What sacrifices are you making for him? Are you working harder? Are you taking that war money and making a war weapon out of it? The Third War Loan gives you the chance to do something extra for him. He knows what good weapons—plenty of them—mean to his safety for which you prayed today. Every additional War Bond means additional weapons.

By Ripley New York Day By Day
By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL
Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

NEW YORK—Diary: On the air on an early morning program with Adelaide Hawley, and much favorable comment, like this, "Say that woman who interviewed you had a wonderful personality! And what a perfect mike voice! She's great. And, by the way, how do you get on such a good program?" Well, it's fine to get up in the morning and get on the air with nice people.

Daughter Pat, returning from a visit with the Plowden family in Sumner, S. C., brought back Mrs. Plowden's recipe for baking bread, and my wife had to try it right away. I'll testify that it's perfect. We've not been bread-eaters in our household, but we're going to be, henceforth.

Heart-to-Heart: Two years ago I started telling correspondents that no more copies were available of a much-demanded column, "One Man's Dog." It's a reprint of an old Sunday column about my Captain Kidd and about dogs in general. The reprint carries a picture of the Captain and his boy.

Well, the syndicate that sells my column and permits me to putter around the premises has just been moving from one floor to another, and in moving, of course, many lost things were found. I ran across about 400 copies of the "One Man's Dog" reprint. The first 400 readers sending in stamped envelopes will get copies.

And for some strange reason, this reminds me that I forgot to tell my readers in advance about Gerber Schaefer's birthday, which was August 21. I do not keep what city editors in a future book to remind me of such important matters, but because I am not systematic enough, I try, but always forget to attend to the book.

On past birthdays, when I have reminded my readers on time, Gerber has had thousands of letters, cards and telegrams.

If you don't remember, Sergeant Schaefer is a crippled veteran of the last war who makes a business of encouraging and helping others. He has been bedfast since the end of the War in Europe. He has been unable to move any voluntary muscle for most of that time, and within the last year has lost the sight of both eyes. He does much civic work and dictates thousands of letters to help crippled persons, shut-ins and discouraged sufferers. I get great inspiration from the letters and cards he writes me.

So if any reader was thinking of sending me greetings on my birthday the nineteenth of October, as many readers generally do, may I ask him to send it to Sergeant Gerber Schaefer instead? With my apologies for having forgotten his birthday, please. His address: St. Joseph's hospital, Reading, Pa.

I heard a curious story from Halloran hospital, which is just outside New York City and I believe, the world's largest hospital. Along with the American wounded there, many wounded German prisoners. They are getting the best treatment and the fast of the land.

Almost every German wounded man asks first for bread and jam. Many of them, during their first two weeks in the hospital, eat a loaf and a half of white bread per day, plus about a quarter of a pound of butter and large glass of jam.

It has been years since they have tasted such food, and they seem starved for it.

LIST SPEAKERS FOR TOWN HALL

Again "Town Hall" will have the center of the stage locally, so to speak, when the fall program gets under way, according to Mrs. J. B. Kugler, secretary. She states that she will have the best program ever presented in Monroe during the coming months. The first number will be "Prisoners of War" by Colonel Hubert Stethem, the best informed man in the western hemisphere on handling prisoners of war. He has been director of all internment operations in Canada where most British prisoners of war are maintained.

He recently retired due to injuries received on duty during an escape of 23 prisoners from Western Ontario Internment camp. He has had 37 years of continuous military service—much of it in the Royal Canadian Dragoons.

In the first World war he served in Canada, England, France and Siberia. From 1927-1933 he was officer of the Royal Military college of Canada, the West Point of Canada. His address here will comprise a comprehensive coverage of the entire internment operations of the dominion of Canada for enemy aliens and prisoners of war, including the close cooperation of the Canadian authorities with our own F. B. I.

The Associated Executives club, Akron, O., membership expressed their reaction to the colonel's address there as follows: "We heard more enthusiastic comments immediately after the lecture than after any speaker we have ever heard here."

The colonel is booked here for the night of October 4, at the Ouachita Parish High school auditorium, where all lectures of the series will be given. Dr. Gerald Wendt, returned here by popular request, will speak on "The Science Front in Modern War." The date will be November 9, while Dr. Vernon Nash, outstanding exponent of world government will appear for a lecture on "The Case of a Federal World Government," on December 13.

CAPT. M'REYNOLDS WRITES PARENTS
Mr. and Mrs. S. M. McReynolds were rejoicing Saturday over the receipt of a postal card from their son, Captain Samuel McReynolds, Jr., who wrote that his health was good and that he was a Japanese prisoner in the Philippines.

He had been reported missing in May, 1942, and his parents had not heard from him since December, 1941. He has a wide circle of friends here who were highly pleased Saturday to know that he is still living and in good health.

INCOME RETURNS DUE THIS WEEK

Acting Collector Explains Who Must File By
Sept. 15

C. A. Donnelly, acting collector of internal revenue for this district, today issued a last minute warning to federal income taxpayers that if they fall within certain classes they are obliged to file with the collector of internal revenue a declaration of estimated income for the year and to make a payment on the outstanding amount on or before this coming Wednesday, September 15.

It is estimated that about one-third of federal income taxpayers are obliged to make this declaration. The purpose of the declaration is to get all people on the "pay-as-you-go" current tax payment basis.

Generally speaking, those who are obliged to file are single persons subject to withholding who earn over $2,700; married people subject to withholding who earn over $3,500; and people with estimated income sufficient to require the filing of an income tax return including over $100 from sources other than salary or wages subject to withholding.

People who are required to make a declaration but fail to do so will find 10 per cent added to their tax. The penalty for failing to pay an installment when due is an additional $2.50 or 21-2 per cent added to the tax, whichever is greater.

There is also a penalty for making a substantial underestimate of the amount of tax due. People other than farmers whose estimate is more than 20 per cent off will have to pay a penalty of 6 per cent on the amount underestimated. Farmers are given wider leeway, being allowed to be 33-1-3 per cent off before the same penalty is assessed, and not being required to file declarations until December 15.

Acting Collector Donnelly urges every income taxpayer to study carefully the instructions recently received from him, with a view to making certain whether or not he or she is obliged by the law to file this September 15 declaration and make an income tax payment at that time.

There are almost three million persons in the Soviet Republic of Azerbaijan.

WEAKS SUPPLY 35 YEARS OLD

Prominent Outfitting Firm Has Leading Role In Industry

Founded in 1908, the Weeks Supply company, limited, is now celebrating its 35th anniversary, as befits long continued service in the wide area that the states of Louisiana, Arkansas and Mississippi present.

This highly successful firm was founded by the late George G. Weeks, Sr., and is now headed by his son, George G. Weeks, Jr., president of the company. Other officers are G. W. Hyle, vice-president and purchasing agent; H. Nichols, vice-president and manager of sales; and Owen L. McCreary, secretary-treasurer.

This firm has played a highly important role in the substantial development of the Monroe industrial area. The firm was originated primarily to meet the supply demands of sawmills and railroads, but later as the area developed with the incoming of the Monroe gas field, numerous other lines were added to serve oil field operators and the large carbon black industry.

Servicing through supplies of pipe lines and compressor stations supplying natural gas to many of the Mississippi Valley states and other states as well, were included in the program of the firm.

With the establishment of the paper and pulp industry here, still further extensive lines of supplies were required and this progressive firm saw that they were available.

Right now the company is most concerned in serving the war effort. Several army construction and ordnance plants have secured a large amount of supplies from the Weeks company.

The present large establishment was erected in 1927 and gives every facility for the conducting of business on a broad scale. Its name and fame is widespread throughout three or four states.

Some of the supplies that are carried are as follows:

YOUNGSTER READ LIKE A VETERAN

Byrne Huffman, aged six, who last year was in the first grade at Georgia Tucker school, and whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Huffman, "stopped the works" at the Jackson (Miss.) war memorial building the other day according to a Jackson daily newspaper.

The paper stated: "He astounded workers in the various departments with his exceptional ability to read plaques in the memorial building. And he did not stutter on long words, those who heard him stated. He was asked where he learned to read and he said in the first grade at Georgia Tucker school in Monroe."

"After he had toured the floor on which the selective service offices are located, he said: 'Well I met the colonel.'"

Weeks Supply Company LTD.

MONROE, LA.

Thirty-Fifth Anniversary

25 Years of Continuous Service to Louisiana—Arkansas—Mississippi

SINCE THE FOUNDING OF OUR COMPANY on September 9, 1908, we believe that we have played an active part in the economic growth of this section. We originated, primarily to meet the supply demands of the Saw Mills and Railroads, which are still major phases of our business. Later when the Monroe Gas Field was discovered, numerous lines were added to enable us to serve the Drillers and Producers and the Carbon Black Industry. We have also continued to serve in the construction of Pipe Lines and Compressor Stations which supply Natural Gas to many of the Mississippi Valley and other Southern states.

With the establishment of the Pulp and Paper Industry in this territory, we further expanded our business to meet their needs. We later included a complete line of Plumbing supplies and shortly thereafter Electrical supplies. We have endeavored to always progress with the development of our trade area and to adequately meet the requirements of our Industrial and Contracting customers. At this time, we are furnishing our supplies to every type of industry in this area. The manufacturers' brands which we handle are nationally-known lines of accepted quality.

In recent years, our endeavor has been to serve in the War effort. We have had the privilege of rendering supply service to the several Army construction projects and Ordnance Plants in this vicinity, as well as our many other important War Industries.

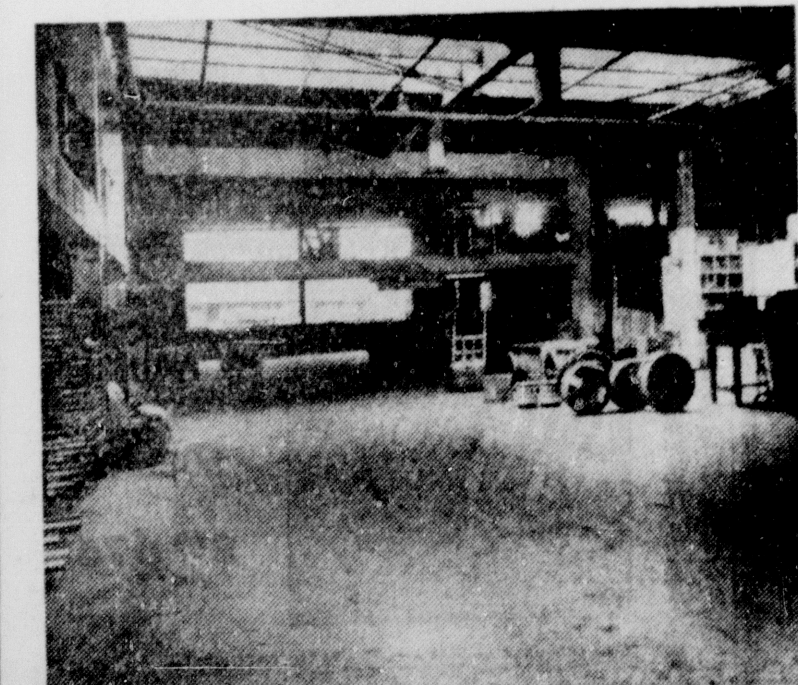

Our present establishment was built and occupied in 1927 and in its warehouses we maintain a stock of supplies which assure our customers prompt deliveries and efficient service. Ample facilities are provided for the loading of trucks and for the parking convenience of our customers.

Center . . . A view of our building from Fourth Street.

Below . . . A partial view of our warehouse, showing our shipping department.

We take this opportunity of paying tribute to our late founder, George G. Weeks, Sr. (1868-1943). His principles and policies have guided the course of our business through our thirty-five years of service; and we are grateful for his leadership, which has given us the reputation and prestige we enjoy.

"A FRIENDSHIP FOUNDED ON BUSINESS IS BETTER THAN A BUSINESS FOUNDED ON FRIENDSHIP"

Bearing this motto of Mr. Weeks in mind, we hope that we shall continue to merit the friendship and confidence of our customers.

assets of bankrupt Italy, which had fallen into chaos.

The Germans had seized all northern Italy and Rome after scattering weak Italian resistance, while the Allies, 119 miles below, expanded their holdings around Naples and captured the port of Salerno. In the far south the Eighth army stepped up its advance to reach Maida, 70 miles from Italy's southern tip.

King Vittorio Emanuele was reported still reigning in Rome, despite German radio reports that he had fled with his prime minister, Marshal Pietro Badoglio, to Sicily.

Allied air forces were pounding the peninsula and Algiers radio reports told of Italian-German fighting in Turin and sabotage against the Germans throughout the country.

But the major event in the Mediterranean today was the dramatic dash of Italy's fleet from the German grasp in its greatest show of spunk during the entire war, in which it has been largely inactive.

The battleships, cruisers and destroyers steamed into port under friendly escort by British warships after a half-hour battle with German bombers which attacked them off Corsica and split in two the Roma.

(La. Linea dispatches corrected previous reports by saying that no Italian ships were visible at Gibraltar from the Spanish town across the frontier. They had said Friday that six Italian ships found haven there.

(At least five and possibly six of Italy's seven battleships have now been accounted for, and seven of its ten cruisers definitely located. Twelve of its 23 destroyers were in Allied hands or interned by the Spaniards. Fifty to 60 submarines are still unaccounted for.)

In addition to the Italian warships, there were indications that the United Nations would gain some portion of Italy's merchant fleet, although many were at northern ports now in German hands.

The 17 ships which arrived in Malta late last night and early this morning came in two flotillas from Taranto, now in Allied hands, and La Spezia, south of Genoa.

Almost from the moment they left port they were under observation of Allied reconnaissance planes which were helpless to aid them until they came within range of Allied fighter protection.

Dennis, 1208 South Second street, Monroe.

ITALIAN WARSHIPS IN BALEARIC PORTS
LA PALMA DE MALLORCA, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Seven Italian warships which put into Balearic ports en route to surrender at Gibraltar, were given 24 hours to leave the island harbor by Spanish authorities today.

The ships, which stopped to land wounded survivors from the battleship Roma, sunk by German air raiders off Corsica, may request an extension of time to remain in ports for necessary repairs or may submit to internment.

Some units of the same squadron, which sailed from La Spezia, were reported to have continued toward Gibraltar but this could not be confirmed.

Many of the wounded were treated at the naval hospital here and it was reported that a majority of the Roma's crew was lost. She carried a complement of 1,600 men.

(The dispatch did not name the vessels or give their types. The 35,000-ton Impero and the 24,000-ton Giulio Cesare have not yet been reported.)

Louisiana Facilities For Mentally Sick Given Scrutiny

The "Survey of State Mental Institutions," published in 1940 by the United States public health service make many recommendations. Among them are the following:

"The immediate purpose of the recommendations is to inaugurate a system that will make possible for the mentally ill and deficient early diagnosis, early treatment and training in humane surroundings. The goal is curing or improving the mentally ill and training the deficient, so that as many as possible of both classes may live useful lives outside the state institution. A further purpose is to reach by means of out-patient clinics, temporary care and treatment in psychiatric clinics and psychopathic hospitals those persons (children or adults) who might by timely attention be prevented from becoming family, community, or institutional problems. An ultimate goal is to correlate the various agencies of the state: the departments of education, of public welfare, of institutions, the medical schools, the schools of nursing, the university, and so forth, into a far reaching social betterment program through enlisting the efforts of physicians, judges, educators, nurses, social workers and the general public.

"Of the 83 recommendations in the survey, 12 are singled out by Dr. Hamilton for first attention because 'the first thing to be taken up is unquestionably the provision of sufficient and suitable personnel.'

"These recommendations receiving priority at the hands of the survey are quoted verbatim.

"Competent psychiatric social workers should be added to the staff of every institution.

"Medical staffs should be materially increased. At least five physicians should be added yearly at Jackson and three at Pineville until case loads approximate proper size.

"Laboratory procedures should be supplemented by adequate neuropathology. A neuropathologist should be added to the medical staff at the eastern state hospital. A combination of pathological activities might be effected for the several hospitals around Pineville.

"All nursing activities in each institution should be directed by a very competent psychiatric nurse.

"The total number of nurses and attendants should be increased till it reaches at least the ratio of one to each eight patients.

"Physical training under skilled leadership should be immediately instituted.

"Present plans for the improvement of occupational therapy should be promptly carried through.

"Libraries for patients should be instituted at both hospitals with suitable library personnel in charge.

"An active department of physiotherapy should be developed in each institution.

"A competent psychologist should be attached to the colony and school and a portion of his time should be made available to the two hospitals. (Note: According to the director of institutions this has already been done.)

"The educational division of the state colony and school should be much strengthened."

BUY WAR BONDS

This week Monroe society is taking time off from social activities, comprised mostly these days of Red Cross Work, and civilian defense duties, to buy War bonds. Booths in shops, drug stores, theaters, banks and the United States postoffice, where volunteers are selling these certificates for our country's peace and happiness have all been crowded with purchasers anxious to help put across America's $15,000,000,000 War Bond Drive. In Monroe today many women are acting as Uncle Sam's salesmen during the Third War Loan, to carry the message of urgent need for funds to finance invasion.

Mr. Travis Oliver, president of the Central Savings Bank and Trust company, is turning over a bond to Mrs. C. D. Wright, wife of Colonel Wright who takes time off from her Red Cross duties to make one of her regular war bond purchases. Top left.

Miss Lavinia Elizabeth Williams Marries Lieutenant Kenneth M. Shaver

Ceremony Solemnized At Chapel At Selman

Reception Follows Wedding Of West Monroe Girl And Pennsylvania Officer

Eliciting widespread social interest was the wedding of Miss Lavinia Elizabeth Williams, daughter of the late Captain and Mrs. Harry Meek Williams of West Monroe, and Lieutenant Kenneth M. Shaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Shaver of Newton Hamilton, Penn.

The ceremony, of military trend, took place Saturday afternoon, September 4, at the Selman field chapel with the Rev. Ernest Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, this city, officiating in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends and the bridegroom's fellow officers. The words of the benediction were spoken by Chaplain Forrest Hubbell.

Palms and woodwardia ferns formed a verdant background against which were silhouetted beautiful pink gladioli overflowing from tall pedestal urns.

A nuptial concert was rendered by Sergeant George B. Brown of Lafayette, La., organist. He also accompanied the soloist, Lieutenant John Gibson of Atlanta, Ga., who sang in splendid voice, "Bridal Dawn" and "At Dawning."

The ushers were Lieutenant Harry Miller of Bellwood, Penn., Lieutenant Hyman Fishman of Boston, Mass., and Lieutenant Hubert M. Lineburger of North Carolina.

The bride's attendant, Mrs. Joy Steele Lewis, wore a beautiful advanced fall model of burgundy velvet with flying blue feathered turban and short, burgundy colored, veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink amaryllis.

Lieutenant Shaver was attended by Lieutenant Norman B. Baker of Roanoke, Va.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Harry Meek Williams, Jr., wore a distinctive original Carolyn model of flying blue trimmed in brown beaver. Her hat, small and very becoming, was of black French felt with a small brim of black sequins and a shoulder length veil. For something old she carried the same imported lace handkerchief carried by her mother on her wedding day. A corsage of orchids and stephanotis was worn.

The reception, following the ceremony, was held in the Butterfly room of the Frances hotel with the bride's sister, Mrs. Lester Woodward, extending courtesies. She wore a lovely fall model of black crepe, draped effect, with gold clips at the neckline and small black hat ornamented in gold. She wore a corsage of pink amaryllis.

Mrs. Woodward was assisted in extending courtesies by other members of the bride's family, Mrs. Lester Corley of New Orleans, Mrs. Metris Bell, Mrs. H. M. Williams, Jr., and Mrs. Steele Williams. Mrs. Corley was wearing a black crepe model with corsage of pink asters. Mrs. H. M. Williams, Jr., wore a gold and brown model with corsage of bronze asters. Mrs. Steele Williams wore a black and white crepe model with corsage of white asters. Mrs. Bell wore a fuchsia colored crepe model with corsage of fuchsia colored asters.

Frosted frappe was served from a mammoth crystal bowl imbedded in a mound of white asters and fern. Individual wedding cakes embossed in daisies were passed among the guests. Before departing on their honeymoon the bride and bridegroom cut their beautifully embossed wedding cake, a delicious confection surrounded with figurines of a bride and bridegroom.

The handsome imported lace cloth had for the bride's table, overlaid with central decor the wedding cake

Readers Clique Hears Talk By Miss Godwin

'Our Adolescent Youth' Is Theme Of Address For First Meeting Of Year

The members of the Readers Clique met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Clay Albright for their first meeting of this club year. Mrs. Raymon John, vice-president, presided over the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Henry Loeb.

After the reading of the club collection in union, Mrs. John called on the secretary, Mrs. J. T. Sumrall, who called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting. Mrs. Oliver Lowery, treasurer, gave a report on the club finances and submitted a budget to the members for this year.

Books were distributed to the club members, and in keeping with the program selected for this year, which is "Homemaking," Mrs. John introduced Miss Lucyle Godwin as the guest speaker, who gave a most interesting and inspiring talk on "Our Adolescent Youth." She mentioned the two things that are needed in dealing with our children—patience and understanding—parents need the understanding of their children and the patience in dealing with them. We should have backyard playgrounds, hobbies and doing things with our children, even though it is listening to the radio together. We should know our community and what activities are available for our children. Today everybody all over the world is thinking about the adolescent boy and girl and Monroe is fortunate in having a very nice building at 1700 South Grand to use for our recreation center for our boys and girls, and all efforts are being put forth in interesting our youth in the recreation center. Not only professors and teachers, but all the women's clubs and mothers, particularly, are interested in this subject. We now have a probation officer, who is not only an officer but the children's friend. Recreation is the preventive but we must have the cure too, for those who do not take advantage of the preventive.

During the social hour the hostess served refreshments to the following: Mrs. R. M. Cook, Mrs. Wilbur Ross, Mrs. J. L. Cheshire, Mrs. Fred Hemmer, Mrs. C. C. Blanchard, Mrs. J. T. Sumrall, Mrs. Skeeter Morgan, Mrs. Raymon John, Mrs. Louis Peters, Mrs. Oliver Lowery, Mrs. Burl Hollia, Mrs. Clay Albright.

Mrs. DeWitt Milam, general chairman of the volunteer service of the Red Cross announces a staff assistant's course will start Monday morning at 10 o'clock at headquarters. All types of Red Cross work will be covered in the course.

Volunteers are badly needed to pack shipments at Red Cross headquarters on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings from 9 to 12 o'clock. Those who will volunteer their services are requested to call Mrs. Morris Haas, 1113.

Mrs. W. E. Moore, Jr., has returned from a visit with Corporal W. E. Moore, Jr., in Memphis. While there they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Hammond and Miss Claire Hammond.

Welcome Branch Book Club In First Meeting

rs. Phebus Reports On War Service Department; Mrs. Lawson Gives Talk

The Welcome Branch of the Twentieth Century Book club met Wednesday afternoon on the roof of the Frances hotel for the first meeting of the club year. Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. F. E. Black and Mrs. Stanley B. Archibald served as hostesses.

F. H. Peterson presided in the place of the president, Mrs. T. H. H. The club song was sung and a collection for club women was taken in unison. Mrs. J. D. Petty led the club in the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Mrs. George Phebus, chairman of the war service department, announced that two students had been entered in the school of nursing at St. Francis sanitarium with the shipshape funds provided by the club. Cards were collected for the members which had the actual number of hours spent in doing Red Cross work throughout the summer months.

Mrs. Phebus encouraged members to take part in the third war bond drive which was submitted by Mrs. G. Prewett, treasurer, to the members of the club.

The Welcome Branch voted to support the fifth district nurses' training fund as a cash contribution. Mrs. W. E. Sandel was elected to fill office of first vice-president which was made vacant by the resignation of Mrs. A. S. Gunter.

The program for the afternoon was presented by the program chairman, Paul T. Wright. Mrs. E. E. Lawson gave an interesting paper, "Our Song and Story." She said in the flag has been called a living piece of poetry. I might add it is also a great inspiring beauty in music. Its highest beauty is in the fact that it symbolizes to every American.

"I am sure that there are many in every person's life here, in which they have experienced the feelings of reverence and awe at the sight of the flag for it is a symbol to every loyal, patriotic American. Its very colors have language which was officially recognized by our fathers—white for purity, red for valor, blue for justice, all together, forming stripes, stars and colors blazing in the sky make the flag of our country, to be cherished by our hearts, to be upheld by all hands.

"Our fighting men now on foreign soil what a mainstay it must be. It is a symbol of our country and its principles which they are fighting and dying for."

Mrs. Lawson read a beautiful contribution to our country as "Glad to be My America," written by J. Norman Coon, accompanied by Mrs. Lawson delighted those present by singing a patriotic song "Our Country."

The guest speaker for the afternoon Mr. W. R. Hammond, head of the department of social sciences at North Junior college. Mr. Hammond chose to read "Biography" for his subject. The address was most interesting and instructive as the speaker pointed out the different kinds of biographies and their values, what part biographies play in literature and the best ways to read them.

PERSONALS

Last week the women of Monroe embarked on their biggest job in local history—buying and selling war bonds as their part of the third war loan.

The quota set for every working American is at least an extra $100 war bond in September, over the above regular war bond purchases. To many women this amount means self-denial. It means wearing last year's clothes, doing their own house-work, giving up a holiday planned. But these are sacrifices that will provide money for that extra bond that will end the war sooner.

These patriotic Monroe women are acting as Uncle Sam's salesmen during the third war loan, to carry the message of urgent need for funds to finance invasion. To many women invasion is thought of in terms of a son, brother, father, uncle or friend who is actually facing the Nazis and Japs.

Lieutenant Russell Cummings whose home is in Columbia is being given a genuine welcome in this city where he is a great favorite. He has not only been entertained extensively since arriving home from overseas but has been host at two small dinner parties at the Lotus club.

Lieutenant Cummings, who is with the United States navy, spent ten months in Africa.

Major J. W. Cummings will arrive home later this week from Boston, Mass., where he has been convalescing in a government hospital since arriving in the states from overseas. He has been suffering from tropical fever but is now in the best of health and will enjoy a thirty day leave.

Major Cummings flew to Boston from Cairo, Egypt, in forty-eight hours. Facts like these remind us of how close to our doors are our enemies.

June Lewis, who spent a portion of her vacation in Arlington, Va., with her aunt, Mrs. Thomas Leigh, and Lieutenant Leigh, returned home last week.

Miss Jean Terzia of New Orleans is spending the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fensky Terzia. She has as her guest, her former roommate of Sophie Newcomb college, Miss Virginia Kyle.

Mrs. J. P. Brown, chairman of the Red Cross Surgical Dressing unit wishes to inform all workers who have been meeting at Northeast Junior college that in the future this unit will meet at Red Cross headquarters.

Miss Kathrine Brown, who has been spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Brown, of West Monroe, left last week for Bristol, Va., where she will assume her duties as a member of the physical education faculty of Sullins college.

En route, Miss Brown will visit friends in Shelby, N. C., where she was formerly director of physical education at Gardner-Webb Junior college.

Mrs. Rebecca Parnell, affectionately known to hosts of friends as "Grandma," recently celebrated her 81st birthday anniversary in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Beale Aulda.

Three wars have taken place during Mrs. Parnell's life time. She re-

New Officers of Club Installed At Y. W. C. A.

In a very impressive and beautiful candlelighting ceremony the new officers of the Business and Professional Girls' club of the Y. W. C. A. were installed. Wista Smith, the past president of the club, gave a talk on the meaning of the club and the use of the symbols including candles. As each of the past officers passed on their duties and charges to the incoming officers they lighted a tall white candle.

The new officers accepted their responsibilities by giving their pledge and quoting the purpose of the Y. W. C. A.: "To build a fellowship of women and girls devoted to the task of realizing in our common lives those ideals of social and personal living to which we are committed by our faith as Christians; in this endeavor we seek to know Jesus, to share His love with all people, and to grow in the knowledge and love of God." # Welcome Garden Club Plans Fall Program

Flower Show Discussed; Mrs. Garnett Reads Interesting Paper On 'Lilies'

Summer is definitely over and flower lovers are turning their thoughts to gardens where fall flowers will soon be blooming.

Members of the Welcome Garden club are especially busy at this time preparing for a season of unusual activity. Mrs. John P. Lewis, the new president, presided during the first meeting of the season last week at the city hall. During the business session a report of the summer activities was submitted by Mrs. John Harper secretary and Mrs. E. B. Johnson, treasurer. A letter was read from Mrs. G. S. Stoval, state publicity chairman, announcing a victory slogan contest. Mrs. Curtis Freeman, Mrs. D. L. Nicol and Mrs. V. S. Garnett were named committee members to receive entries in this contest. Every member was urged to enter at least one slogan and turn them in to the committee before September 20th.

Mrs. J. C. Anders, chairman of the House committee, announced that the next meeting would be held in the K. P. Hall unless otherwise notified. Discussion and plans for a flower show to be held in November were made.

The meeting was then turned over to the program committee and Mrs. Ralph Gibson introduced the speakers.

Mrs. V. S. Garnett discussed "Lilies." She said "Lilies are among the most popular of garden flowers, having held this position for centuries. But in the United States they have not taken the high rank that they hold in Europe, especially in Great Britain. This is probably due largely to the dryer, hotter climate. All lily bulbs like a well-drained soil. If the natural drainage is not good, they may be planted on a bed of sand, placing each bulb on its side so that the water cannot collect in the center of its over-lapping scales. Lily bulbs should be set 8 inches deep in the ground, unless told differently. This prevents bulb from freezing in winter and keeps cool in summer.

"Lilies are comparatively free from insect pests. "Lilies prefer an acid or at least a neutral soil except in the case of a few which are lime-tolerant. A good way to provide this condition is to use plenty of leaf-mold. Have a lily bed raised, because they must have good drainage. Rotted cow manure, coal ashes, sand, leaf mold, and bone meal make a good lily bed."

Mrs. Garnett continued saying "it is important to get bulbs with roots attached when possible. It is a mistake to insist on the largest bulbs. Those of medium size may not give so many blooms the first season, but they are more likely to persist. Never leave lily bulbs exposed to the sun or where they will dry out. Keep packed in soil until you can plant them."

"When cutting flowers be sure to leave part of the stem with some foliage to build up a good bulb. Seed production weakens the bulbs. Never allow them to carry over one or two clustered flowers and hollow rush-like leaves.

Mrs. Freeman concluded by saying "Let's plan and plant now for beauty in the next spring when everyone will need just the lift that flowers alone can give us."

The program was concluded by a short discussion on "Horticulture" by Mrs. D. F. Dennis who discussed the feeding, watering and caring for chrysanthemums at this time in order to get them ready for blooming.

pod, and remove when they show signs of cracking open."

Mrs. Garnett concluded by describing the various lilies—among them the Regal Lily, Guernsey Lily, Madonna Lily or Easter Lily, Philippine Lily, Butterfly Lily, Ginger Lily, Amaryllis and Hemerocallis. Regarding the latter, Mrs. Garnett stated Hemerocallis is a Greek word which means "beautiful for a day." The term "lily" is a misnomer, for the plant isn't true lily but is so called because of the resemblance. Instead of growing from bulbs as do all lilies, Hemerocallis is perennial and grows from fleshy tuberous roots. Daylilies multiply with great rapidity and improve with age."

Mrs. Gibson then introduced Mrs. Curtis Freeman who discussed "Bulbs." First of all, Mrs. Freeman defined a bulb—an incased leaf bud, or flower bud, or sometimes a combination of the two, surrounded by fleshy layers or scales fastened upon a fibrous base from which roots are produced. Mrs. Freeman continued—"There are a great many floral subjects which we call "bulbs" because of their resemblance, that are not true bulbs at all. They are classified as follows:

"Gladiolus and crocus are corms. They are solid objects and usually quite hard. The method of growth is different. A true bulb may live indefinitely as a single unit or may increase by splitting itself up. But a corm actually withers and dies after a year of growth, being replaced by a new corm, or corms that usually form on top of old ones or sometimes underneath.

We call dahlias bulbs but they are tubers. Tubers are swollen roots. The function of tuber is to serve as a reservoir of food upon which the new shoots can feed until new rooting system is able to feed it.

Rhizomes—sometimes called bulbs. Typical are "iris" (bearded). They have thick fleshy roots growing horizontally.

"The advantage of planting true bulbs for flower production is the fact that their flower buds are actually incased within the bulb at the time of planting and surrounded with stored up food. That's why some kinds need little more than water to flower. Hyacinth, narcissus and the amaryllis lily are examples.

"It is most important to remember that in all true bulbs the bud within was created while the foliage was maturing the season before, so we should try to keep foliage green as long as possible. Therefore, next year's flowers are being produced while this year's foliage is maturing. Remember to give as good care to your bulbs after they flower as before.

"We have two classes of bulbs—first, fall bulbs, those that are dormant and should be planted in late summer and fall. Second, spring bulbs, those dormant over winter and must be planted in early spring. The fall bulbs are hardy and include tulips, narcissus, Dutch iris, jonquils, etc. Very few spring bulbs are hardy and must be stored during winter freezes. These include gladiolus and dahlias.

"We want to consider the fall bulbs now because September, October and November are the best months for planting. We should pay as much attention to the preparation of the soil for bulbs as for any other flower if we want them to give good returns. Spade the location thoroughly. Work in well rotted manure or bone meal. They should not be crowded by other plants.

"Inasmuch as imported bulbs will almost be unobtainable it is well to turn our attention to other bulbs. As a substitute for tulips, try Dutch iris or dwarf iris. They bloom over a long period and are, in many ways, better than tulips. They last for years if taken up and replanted every third year.

"There are probably more narcissus than anything else in American bulb nurseries now so we should make a more liberal planting of these for earlier bloom. The King Alfred and pure white such as "Tunis" and "Beersheba" are some of the improved kinds.

"Sometimes the terms "narcissus," "daffodil" and "jonquil" are confused and not clearly understood. In this country, "narcissus" though actually the name of the entire genus, applies only to the sweet-scented cluster types of the tender polyanthus classification and include poet's narcissus and paper white narcissus. "Daffodil" is the common name by which the trumpet varieties are known. The "jonquil" has small brilliant yellow, sweet smelling

German tanks, but these enemy forces were repulsed.

Official reports said the Allied aerial assaults have prevented "the enemy from getting reinforcements over badly-battered highways and railroads" to the Naples area.

In addition to knocking out German reinforcement lines in a 60-mile arc around Naples, the Allied air forces attacked Nazi land convoys moving northward toward the Naples-Salerno area, headquarters said. This would indicate that the Germans may be withdrawing from areas farther south to escape being cut off and perhaps to hurl more weight against the Fifth army bridgehead.

The British Eighth army in the south met scant opposition and plunged forward at a faster pace in spite of demolitions. General Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's forces now hold virtually all the territory south of the bottleneck formed by the Gulf of Squillace and the Gulf of Saint Eufemia—the entire lower section of Italian toe.

(An NBC correspondent said in a broadcast from North Africa that the Eighth army had advanced 35 miles northward so fast that it was beginning to overtake the retreating Germans.)

At Taranto, inside the heel, British troops completed their occupation of the town and naval base.

(Radio France at Algiers said the British were moving ahead from Taranto in three directions.)

A small Allied force landed on the island of Ventotene off Naples, where the Germans surrendered after a stiff fight. Ninety-one Germans were captured. The Italians offered no opposition.

(A German communique declared that the Italian naval base of Pola on the Yugoslav side of the Adriatic sea and the island of Rhodes in the Dodecanese had surrendered to the Germans.)

(The Nazi war bulletin asserted further that "our troops have marched into Milan, Turin and Padua." Another German broadcast declared that "the major part of the Italian peninsula is under the control of German armed forces.")

Official information was lacking here on conditions in all parts of Italy outside of those occupied by the Allies. Broadcasts from Germany and other points in Europe, however, picture the country as the scene of utter confusion.

According to these accounts, the Nazis held control of northern and central Italy, with Rome and Milan leaving been surrendered to them after bitter battles with Italian troops.

At Turin, according to latest reports, the Italians still were resisting the Nazis after having wiped out four companies of German shock troops.

The air warfare continued over central and southern Italy, with the enemy offering little opposition to the Allied formations attacking communications routes and air fields. Much of the German air strength, however, was reported switching to offensive tactics, especially in the Naples area where German planes attempted to bomb Fifth army troops.

The converging blows on Pavlovgrad on the last trunk railway east of the Dnieper river bend, and a powerful renewed drive southwest of Harkov toward Poltava in which 14 German counter-attacks were beaten down threatened the early collapse of enemy resistance east of the Dnieper and the possible entrapment of huge enemy forces.

Hundreds of guns and tanks and other German equipment was either destroyed or captured in the Russian sweep. The communique said that at one point 1,000 railway freight cars were seized, so swift was the advance.

Striking for the mile-wide Dnieper river the Red army entered the third month of its great summer offensive which already has gained from 80 to 150 miles along the 600-mile front and knocked out of action perhaps 2,000,000 German and Axis satellite troops.

It was apparent from the quickening Russian strides that the Red army already was benefiting by Italy's surrender and related American-British threats to the Germans in the Balkans and France.

Three men were known to have been injured and two others were probably slightly injured late last night when a truck in which they were traveling left the highway and crashed into a tree in the yard of the old Parker home on DeSiard road near McCabe's store, it was reported.

A Peters ambulance rushed three men to Conway Memorial hospital for treatment of wounds. They had not been identified late last night nor was the extent of their injuries immediately determined.

It was reported that two other men had apparently been shaken up in the crash, but they had "walked off" before the ambulance arrived at the scene.

Mrs. J. J. McCabe, 7500 DeSiard, near whose home the accident occurred, said the truck was traveling toward Monroe when it left the street and hit the tree. She reported the machine was totally demolished and that it was "from Bonita."

State police were conducting an investigation into the crash which occurred about 11 p.m. No other machine was reported involved in the accident.

steps." Even civilians, by the Germans' own account, were rioting in such cities as Turin and Milan.

Three-Hitler's shabby "victory" at Rome—he had sought by the ugly drama of that assault to soften in German and satellite minds the realization of his position—was the emptiness of his career. His troops stood idly around the outskirts of the city that had no great military value in the first place and assessments after the event made it appear more and more that the force was really made up of not much beyond a division of men ringing a broken and spiritless Rome—a far cry from a panoplied and triumphant army he had sought to suggest.

Note the Sample Puzzle above. It was purposely made easy to show you how to solve the puzzles. Notice that there are several objects illustrated and also that there are several plus and minus signs, which means that you add or subtract. Let's solve the puzzle together. The first object is a BRUSH. Therefore, write down the letters B-R-U-S-H. Next you are told to add the letters O-E, and by so doing you have B-R-U-S-H-O-E. Then you see a minus sign followed by a HOSE, which means that you deduct the letters H-O-S-E. That leaves you B-R-U, from which you are then told to deduct U, leaving you B-R. Next you are told to add HOUSE and the letters NN, giving you B-R-H-O-U-S-E-N-N. From that deduct HEN and the letter S, and you have B-R-O-U-N, the last name of the late famous columnist, Heywood BROWN.

'Watch On The Rhine' Opens At Paramount On Monday

Bette Davis Starring In New Picture

Paul Lukas Co-Starred In Adaptation Of Spectacular Hit Play

THE "Magis touch" team of Lillian Hellman as author and Herman Shumlin as producer-director, responsible for the stage successes, "Children's Hour," "The Little Foxes" and "Watch on the Rhine," was brought to Hollywood by Warner Brothers for the screen production of Miss Hellman's greatest play, "Watch on the Rhine," slated to open at the Paramount theater on Monday.

"Watch on the Rhine" arrived in Hollywood wearing medals, figuratively speaking. The New York Drama Critics Circle gave it its award as the best play of the season. President Roosevelt designated it for the annual "command performance" in Washington. Its star, Paul Lukas had won the award of the New York Drama League for the best performance of the season. So Warner Brothers could do no less than add the luster of its own two-time winner of the Motion Picture Academy Award. Miss Bette Davis, to co-star with Mr. Lukas in the film.

Stars, story and production are a triple guarantee of a superlative screen story in this intensely dramatic narrative of a family united in defiance of a ruthless, relentless enemy.

Bette Davis, as the American wife of Kurt Muller (Paul Lukas), a German who has made the fight against Fascism his life work, adds another vivid and distinctive portrayal to the varied dramatic roles which have distinguished her career. She plays the role of a devoted, courageous wife, in complete sympathy with the ideals of her husband and therefore prepared to accept with him the risks of a dangerous profession.

A top-flight supporting cast is headed by Geraldine Fitzgerald, Lucile Watson, Beulah Bondi and George Coulouris. Miss Watson and Mr. Coulouris re-enact their original Broadway roles.

Dashiell Hammett wrote the script, with additional scenes and dialogue by Lillian Hellman.

Mabel Paige and Charles Dingle are shown above in a scene from "Someone to Remember," the story of something greater than life itself—a mother's love for her boy. In connection with "Someone to Remember," the United States government presents "Report from the Aleutians" in technicolor. Here's the Yanks' rousing answer to Jap invasion of American soil. These two features are playing at the Paramount Friday and Saturday.

"Passport to Suez" starring Warren William as the "Lone Wolf," and Ann Savage, who go to Alexandria, Egypt, for their latest adventures. There, at an international hotel, he runs afoul of international spies. There is a secret mission involving a secret invention. William saves the invention for the allies and helps save Africa from the Nazis. "Passport to Suez" plays today only at the Paramount.

'Five Graves To Cairo' Is At Capitol

Franchot Tone And Anne Baxter Head Cast Of War Thriller

PARAMOUNT'S "Five Graves to Cairo," the much-heralded behind-the-scenes thriller with Rommel's loss of the African continent as its central idea, opens today at the Capitol theater. A brilliant cast, including Franchot Tone, Anne Baxter, Akim Tamiroff and Erich von Stroheim as Marshal Rommel, act out the full-packed story, set down in the locale over which Rommel was chased back and forth for many months by the British Eighth army.

Tone, playing Corporal Bramble of the British tank corps, staggers, delirious, into the Empress of Britain, a dilapidated desert hotel presided over by Akim Tamiroff, and Mouche, the French chambermaid, played by Anne Baxter. Bramble discovers that the hotel is to be occupied by the Germans, led by Rommel. Tone, in as fine a bit of screen skullduggery as has been seen here in a long time, succeeds with the aid of Tamiroff and Miss Baxter, in learning the meaning of the "five graves," Rommel's secret weapon (which it would be unfair to divulge here) and aids in stemming the Nazi march on Egypt. That, briefly, is the plot. Filled out by competent acting on the part of the principals, all the thrilling situations form into a pattern of intrigue which left the audience limp.

"Five Graves to Cairo" is a must on the list of all moviegoers. A generous dash of Nazi loathsomeness is added to the picture by von Stroheim's excellent portrayal of Rommel. The veteran character actor adds considerably to his reputation as one of the most hated men on the screen.

The desert fox and the French chambermaid, portrayed by Erich von Stroheim and Anne Baxter, shown above in a scene from "Five Graves to Cairo," playing today through Tuesday at the Capitol theater, the story of adventure behind the lines of Rommel's African rout. Franchot Tone and Akim Tamiroff are also in the cast. Miss Baxter is the only girl in the film.

In this role, in addition, Tone, Miss Baxter, Tamiroff, and Fortunio Bonanova, who plays an Italian general, contribute performances which make "Five Graves to Cairo" a memorable screen event.

It must be said that without a story the actors would not have shown up at their best, and for supplying the gripping story, Billy Wilder and Charles Brackett deserve more than a nod.

SAYS BLOOD PLASMA BIGGEST LIFE-SAVER

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Admiral Luther Sheldon, Jr., United States navy assistant chief of the bureau of medicine and surgery, today termed blood plasma "the biggest single life-saver of the war."

In a statement to newsmen, in which he praised the efficiency of the navy medical corps, Admiral Sheldon, here from Washington on a tour of naval hospitals, said:

"We can say that blood plasma has done more to save the lives of men wounded in action than any other single factor. Our need for it is increasing and will continue to increase until the war is won."

Of medical corps personnel he said: "We have read and heard a great deal about the new 'miracle' drugs in this war, but I think more of our recoveries are due to nothing else but the fine caliber of both our medical officers and enlisted personnel as well as the navy nurses."

Accompanying the admiral on his tour of inspection is Commander Francis J. Braeland, former dean of medicine of Loyola university, Chicago.

WILL THE FALL OF ITALY MEAN A HOME FRONT DEFEAT?

The Fall of Italy Is Glorious News

Glorious

IF we take it as only the end of Round One . . . with TWO much tougher ones to follow!

BUT . . .

IF we consider it the finish of the fight and begin to pull our punches . . . it could mean a home front defeat!

It COULD mean good news to our two major enemies — if we take it as a signal to slow up, let down, or quit backing the war with everything we have.

As a matter of fact, the long, hard march to Berlin and Tokyo has just begun. If we think it will be easy, if we think we can win this fight with one hand—then we are wrong, DANGEROUSLY wrong.

Before the last shot is fired, a lot of lives are going to be lost and a lot of billions spent. The more American dollars that go into superior equipment, the less American blood is going to redden foreign soil.

It cost 45 million dollars to lay Hamburg low. It cost over 300 million to train, equip and transport the crews and ready everything for the task. And Hamburg is just ONE enemy city.

War Bonds must provide much of the money for the bitter struggle yet ahead. We — not the fellow next door — have a personal responsibility to dig deeper than is pleasant and convenient to make the Third War Loan a Success.

It will be a success only if every American opens his heart and his pocket and decides to BACK THE ATTACK BY BUYING BONDS.

YANKS AND CARDINALS IRON OUT WORLD SERIES SCHEDULE

Will Be One-Trip Affair, With First 3 Games Slated For New York, Next 4 In St. Louis; Opens Oct. 5

By Charles Dunkley

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The 1943 World Series, opening in New York's Yankee stadium on Tuesday, October 5, will be a one-trip affair.

The first three games will be played in New York and the remaining games in St. Louis, regardless of the number necessary to decide the series.

These plans were completed today as the Yankees and Cardinals moved toward the championships in the American and National leagues. The Cardinals need to win only eight more games to clinch the National league flag, while the Yanks must bag 14 more, based on figures before today's games were concluded.

The details were worked out at a meeting presided over by Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, and attended by Sam Breadon, owner of the Cardinals, Charles McManus, representing the New York Yankees, and Ford Frick, president of the National league.

The decision to play the first three games at New York was reached after it had been proposed by Edward Barrow, president of the Yankees. Barrow also suggested a one-trip series in order to cooperate with the Office of Defense Transportation in eliminating unnecessary train travel.

If the series should go seven games, it was decided, there will be a day of rest between games six and seven in order to sell tickets for the seventh. The tickets customarily are sold in blocks covering three games each. It was also decided to allow two days of travel after the first three games. Thus the fourth game will be in St. Louis October 10.

All games will start at 1:30 p.m. Charity will share in the receipts as it did last year. The profits of games three, four, six and seven, after the players' pool is taken out, go to War Relief and Service, Inc., a baseball organization handling funds raised for charity. This organization will turn over one-half of the receipts to the American Red Cross and the remaining half to the National War Fund.

The latter organization is the distributor of funds to 30-odd war relief and charitable organizations.

The radio broadcasting rights were sold to the Gillette Safety Razor company for $100,000 and this, too, will be tossed into the charity pool. If the series goes seven games, Landis estimated that charity might receive $550,000. If the series goes only four games, the amount would be only about $400,000, Landis said.

The usual World Series prices will prevail, with box seats for the New York games selling for $6.00, grandstand $5.50, general admission $3.20 and bleachers $1.10.

At St. Louis, however, because of a Missouri state tax, these prices will prevail: Box seats $6.50, grandstand $5.75, general admission $3.45 and bleachers $1.15.

SELMAN NEGRO TEAMS TO MEET DORN MEN TODAY

Selman field's negro athletic teams take the spotlight today in two contests, baseball and boxing, when the Tigers, winners of 16 of 18 ball games, take on Camp Van Dorn in the afternoon performance at Casino park, and the boxing team meets the pugilists of the same camp at Selman field. The baseball game starts at 2 o'clock.

The Tigers with either Brever or Washington on the mound will be shooting for their 17th win, having trounced the Van Dorn bunch last Sunday by a respectable score.

The Red Shield Junior church league, exclusive to youths under 15 years of age, expects to complete its championship playoff this week.

The First Methodists of Monroe won the first game of the title series Friday by trimming the Red Shield Juniors, 5 to 3, behind the two-hit pitching of C. J. Fontana, only hurley in either league to record a no-hit performance this season. Fontana's

SOFTBALL PLAY NEARING FINALS

Semi-Final Games Scheduled For Monday And Tuesday In Red Shield Loop

Final games of the Red Shield Senior softball league's semi-final championship series are scheduled for tomorrow and Tuesday and the winners of the two remaining games are scheduled to clash in the title playoff finals.

Allstate and Red Shield, with one victory each against one defeat, finish their two-out-of-three series tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock on the Lida Benton diamond, the winner advancing to the finals with the winner of the Selman-Monroe Recreation park series.

The Hot Rocks, unofficial representatives of Selman field, and Monroe Recreation square off in their deciding game Tuesday at the same time and place.

The championship finals are scheduled to go five games or until one team wins three games, and the first game of the title series will probably be played Thursday, allowing one day of rest for the winner of Tuesday's game before starting the last playoff.

The Red Shield Junior church league, exclusive to youths under 15 years of age, expects to complete its championship playoff this week.

The First Methodists of Monroe won the first game of the title series Friday by trimming the Red Shield Juniors, 5 to 3, behind the two-hit pitching of C. J. Fontana, only hurley in either league to record a no-hit performance this season. Fontana's no-hitter was against the First Baptists of West Monroe during the semi-final series.

The second game of the title series will be played tomorrow at 6 p.m. at the Ouachita Parish High school, and if a third game is necessary it will be played Wednesday. Two wins are necessary to claim the crown in the Junior circuit.

WISCONSIN SEES GLOOMY SEASON
Badgers Have Only One Man Returning From Great 1942 Eleven

By Tony Werry
MADISON, Wis., Sept. 11.—(AP)—A bunch of used uniforms and a couple of battered water buckets is about all that Coach Harry Stuhldreher has got left this fall to remind him of his powerful 1942 Wisconsin football team.

Harry has a "one-man nucleus," Len Calligaro, a reserve utility back, from his great 1942 team. The rest of the squad, which outscored Ohio State, Minnesota, Great Lakes, Missouri and others in winning eight games, losing one and playing to one tie, is strictly a memory.

Graduation or the armed forces took all but Calligaro.

"We're not even in the same league as our opponents," Stuhldreher said. "We are the only school in the Middle West that can say that we have only one letterman left. That puts us at the bottom of the heap."

"If there is anyone out there to remind me of last year, I haven't seen him yet. This year Wisconsin fans can come prepared to cheer for the underdog."

The underdog role, he said, fits Wisconsin in every game on its schedule, but particularly the engagements with Michigan, Notre Dame, Northwestern, Purdue and Camp Grant.

Before Stuhldreher is the mighty task of replacing a 1942 starting eleven which included All-American End Dave Schreiner and his wingmate, Bob Hanlik. Tackles Bob Bauman and Paul Hirsbrunner, Guards Evan Vogts and Dean Currier, Center Fred Negus, Quarterback Jack Wink, Halfbacks Mark Hoskins and Elroy Hirsch, and powerhouse Fullback Pat Harder, who scored twice against the Washington Redskins in the college all-star game.

Hirsch, Wink, Negus and Hanlik, naval trainees at Ann Arbor, are expected to be wearing Michigan jerseys the day the Wolverines and Badgers meet in November.

From an assortment of naval students and undergraduates, including freshmen, Stuhldreher has selected tentatively a backfield combination composed of Halfbacks Bob Piper and Don Kindt, Fullback Paul McLaughlin, and Quarterback Calligaro. In the line he is depending upon Center J. D. Keenan, Guards Charles Connors and Robert Meyers, Tackles Matt

FOOT ITCH
ATHLETE'S FOOT

Often the disease travels all over the bottom of the feet. The soles of your feet become red and swollen. The skin also cracks and peels, and the itching becomes worse and worse.

Get relief from this disease as quick as possible because it is both contagious and infectious and it may go to your hands or even to the under arm or crotch of the legs.

Why Take Chances?
The germ that causes the disease is known as Trichophyton. It buries itself deep in the tissues of the skin and is very hard to kill. A test made shows it takes 15 minutes of boiling to destroy the germ, whereas, upon contact, laboratory tests show that H. F. will kill the germ Trichophyton within 15 seconds.

H. F. was developed solely for the purpose of relieving Athlete's Foot. It is a liquid that penetrates and dries quickly. You just paint the affected parts. H. F. gently peels the skin, which enables it to get to parasites existing under the outer cuticle.

Relief Guaranteed OR MONEY BACK
At least 80% of the adult population of the United States are being attacked by the disease known as Athlete's Foot.

Usually the disease starts between the toes. Little watery blisters form, and the skin cracks and peels. After a while, the itching becomes intense, and you feel as though you would like to scratch off all the skin.

Itching Often Relieved Quickly
As soon as you apply H. F. you may find that the itching is relieved. You should paint the infected parts with H. F. night and morning until your feet are better. Usually this takes from three to ten days.

H. F. should leave the skin soft and smooth. You may marvel at the quick way it brings you relief. Don't wait for Athlete's Foot to become serious. Get H. F. today.

OUACHITA PLAYS BEARCATS HERE

Powerful Bossier City Eleven Already Has Win Over Haynesville Club

Football takes its 1943 bow in Monroe this week-end when the Ouachita Parish high school Lions, defending Class AA champions of north Louisiana, open their season against the powerful Bossier City High school Bearcats, state Class A champions.

The Bearcats, considered about the strongest outfit in the state last year when Bossier won the state Class A crown and also beat such Class AA clubs as Byrd of Shreveport, Ouachita, Haynesville and Fair Park of Shreveport, launched their '43 campaign Friday night with a 6-to-0 victory over the Haynesville Tornado.

Bossier City, operating from the "T" formation as taught by Coach Ben Cameron and Loy Camp, has another powerhouse this season, according to reports after their triumph over Haynesville. The Bearcats don't have the brilliant open field running that was displayed last year by Gene "Red" Knight, but the power attack, spearheaded by Joe Birdwell, a guard from last year converted into a back, can mean nothing but trouble for Ouachita.

The game is scheduled for Friday, but it was indicated last night that the date may be changed to Saturday.

Coach George Riser, reporting on the progress of his Lions, last night said his forces still needed improvement both offensively and defensively, but that there had been noticeable improvement in the past week and that Ouachita will field the best team possible.

It is apparent that Jerry Gregg, only returning back to letter last year, will be ball-carrier-in-chief for the Lions this year with the rest of the club called upon to block, block and block. "However, the backs are fortified with a few squads from last year whose slight experience is proving helpful."

LeFrez Down, a squaddie, is Gregg's chief understudy with Johnny King and a 130-pounder, G. W. Rochelle, as the competition.

Other squaddies from last year after backfield berths are Curtis Hall, blocker, Kyle Wicks, right half, and Miller Frey and Tommy Moncrief.

Oma Fleming, reserve blocking back last year, and Billy Hargis, who looked so good at center in spring training, reported for practice for the first time the past week.

"BODIES" for BOMBERS

ON OCTOBER 25, 1946—more than a year before Pearl Harbor—U. S. Army Air Corps officials notified us of the urgent need for a vastly increased aircraft production program, and invited us to participate.

Already we were making Army trucks in great number, completing a huge tank arsenal, building field ranges and tent heaters, and making our first studies of anti-aircraft gun manufacture.

Here was another urgent job that had to be tackled at once.

Without waiting to learn what aircraft job would be assigned to us, we provided 600,000 sq. ft. of additional plant space and, from our own personnel, began to select engineering, metallurgical and manufacturing specialists for this new work.

It was just three months after our first meeting with Air Corps officials that we were officially notified our job was to build the complete nose and center fuselage sections for medium bombers including installation of complete mechanical and control systems.

We immediately sent forty of our technicians to a producing aircraft plant where chassis made intensive analyses of aircraft blueprints covering more than fourteen thousand structural parts.

The materials to be used included aluminum, steel, brass, bronze, plastics, plywood and fabrics.

OVER 14,000 PARTS
TO BE FORGED, CAST,
STAMPED, MACHINED
AND PRECISION-FITTED

Many of the metal parts presented entirely new working characteristics. They required elaborate heat treating processes for the extreme stresses demanded of them. They also presented new problems in the design and use of the dies required to shape them.

Our production and purchasing specialists determined which parts we could subcontract to other companies. As the work progressed, orders were given to 2,255 subcontractors in 309 towns, in 29 states.

Aluminum forgings would be needed in large numbers by us and other manufacturers participating in the expanded aircraft production program. Therefore, we were given the job of building an aluminum forge plant to take care of these requirements. We also prepared at our foundry to produce aluminum castings required for plane manufacture.

Thousands of men and women had to be trained for this new type of work. Women were employed in large numbers and carefully taught drilling, riveting, machining and assembling of aircraft parts. Automobile sheet metal workers, body builders and trimmers were shown how to apply their skill and experience to the production of bomber parts.

The big nose of the bomber houses the Bombardier, Pilot, Co-Pilot, Navigator and Radio Operator. Nearly all the mechanical and electrical controls are here, while the center section is the bomb carrying space.

If you could look within these sections as the work of assembly goes on, you would see a bewildering network of wires and tubing as well as the structural skeleton of the ship. Every one of these 1963 separate wires and over 1,000 feet of tubes—to say nothing of all the control mechanisms—must operate faultlessly.

In the production of "bodies" for bombers—a new held to Chrysler Corporation—again is demonstrated how our experience in peacetime car and truck production now is being applied to the production of war equipment in quantity . . . and on time.

these men did regular production work and observed, at first hand, the production methods then in use. Our long background in building automobiles and trucks, plus the experience these men gained working with an aircraft manufacturer, enabled us quickly to get under way with the necessary tools and equipment to turn out "bodies" for bombers by quantity production methods.

To help acquaint us in advance with the many kinds of material and operations involved, the Army Air Corps sent us a bomber nose section. Our engineers and master me-

DETERMINE ON POOL LOCATION

Will Be Midway Between Dormitories For Men And Women

RUSTON, La., Sept. 11.—(Special)—Tech's $100,000 indoor swimming pool will be located just north of the white stucco building occupied by the buildings and grounds department, President Claybrook Cottingham has announced. It will be about midway between the men's and women's dormitories.

When construction of the pool will begin is not definitely known, however, it is hoped that building activity will have started by November 1 and that the pool will be ready for use at the beginning of the third trimester, March 1.

Members of the state board of education's building committee at a conference in Baton Rouge Tuesday authorized President Cottingham to employ the firm of Neild, Somdal and Neild, Shreveport architects, to prepare drawings for the natorium. Efforts are now being made to have final plans ready to present to the building committee and to the state board of education when they meet at the state capitol September 27.

Final steps necessary to letting the contract for the pool are expected to be taken at the meeting, President Cottingham has pointed out. Actual work on the pool will begin as soon thereafter as possible.

"We have been assured that Tech will be given a pool which will be first class in every respect and that it will be adequate for our needs," the president reported upon his return from the Baton Rouge conference.

"It seems fairly definite that the pool will be housed in a separate building which will be approximately 90 feet wide and 120 feet long," Dr. Cottingham declared. While the exact size of the pool itself has not been definitely set, it probably will be 40 feet wide and 75 to 100 feet in length.

At its deepest point, the natorium will be about 10 feet. The shallow portion will be about four or five feet. There will be a seating space for approximately 600 spectators surrounding the pool, it is planned. Money for the project was allocated

COMES HOME

Burkett Anderson, a machinist's mate first class, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Anderson, Marion, La., is spending a 30-day furlough at home after 20 months' active duty in the southwest Pacific. This is his first visit to his home in three years.

recently by the state board of liquidation. Although it is being built primarily for the approximately 600 navy V-12 students assigned to Tech, the pool also will be used by civilian men and women students.

TECH'S WATER SYSTEM BETTER

Extensive Changes Made To Boost Pressure Throughout Campus

RUSTON, La., Sept. 11.—(Special)—Extensive changes have just been completed in the water system at Louisiana Tech in order to boost water pressure throughout the campus, according to James S. Tarbuton, acting superintendent of buildings and grounds.

The Tech water tank, previously used for fire protection only, has been flushed and cleaned and connected with the main water system. The tank will act as a reserve supply, it is explained.

Water will be boosted into the tank by a 20-horsepower pump of 250-gallon-per-minute capacity which has been installed in the Tech power plant. Approximately 500 feet of six-inch pipe has been put down to connect the pump and the tank.

The switch-over to the new system is scheduled to be made by Friday morning, it has been announced.

"We felt that the change was necessary because we had been unable to get sufficient water pressure on the upper floors of several buildings," Mr. Tarbuton pointed out. J. B. Heard and members of his maintenance staff began work on the changes last Friday and ignored the Labor day holiday to hasten completion of the project.

Three new fire hydrants, equipped for hose and steamer pumper connections, also have been installed during the past week, bringing to nine the number in use on the campus. The new hydrants are located just south of Robinson hall, northeast of the dining hall and northeast of Howard auditorium.

REVIVAL WILL BE CLOSING SUNDAY

The gospel meeting of the Church of Christ on the Cheniere road, three-fourths of a mile off Shreveport highway will close Sunday night. Four persons have been baptized and four restored.

"Keeping the Ordinance" will be the theme of the sermon this morning at 11 o'clock and "The Plan of Salvation" will be the topic Sunday night. The church is on the city bus line. Services are conducted by Evangelist Joe W. Castleman, of Houston, Tex.

GENERAL HUNTER WILL RETIRE SOON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Brigadier General George B. Hunter, commanding general of the New Orleans port of embarkation, will retire from the United States army in the near future, it was announced today by the port public relations officer.

A West Point graduate, General Hunter came here in 1940 as executive officer of the third military area.

During World War I, he commanded the United States School of Military Aeronautics at Berkeley, Calif., and served in the office of the chief of the air corps.

has seen duty in the Philippines, at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., West Point and on the Mexican border. He was a member of General John J. Pershing's punitive expedition in Mexico in 1917.

THE SULTAN GAVE ORDERS TO PREPARE THE ARENA FOR THE MORTAL TOURNAMENT.

WHEN THE PROCESSIONS CONVERGED, ONE ASKED ANOTHER, "WHAT KIND OF FIGHTER HAVE YOU BROUGHT?"

IN ANSWER, EACH POINTED TO A HUGE SLAVE-BORNE BOX. "IN GOOD TIME YOU SHALL SEE."

THAT NIGHT THE RIVAL SULTANS CAROUSED AT A GREAT FEAST. THEY LAID WAGERS ON THE COMBAT. "ALL OF YOU ARE SECRETIVE," SAID KANDULLAH, "BUT I WILL SHOW YOU MY FIGHTER." THEN TARZAN WAS LED INTO THE HALL, WHERE THE SULTANS APPRAISED HIM.
